Investigation and Analysis of Case of Chinese Reading Methods

HE Yiwei

School of Chinese Language and Literature Beijing Foreign Studies University Beijing 100089 China

Abstract This article is about a British student case study of Chinese reading comprehension to know her detailed reading process reading material reading methods reading difficulties and to propose the corresponding teaching strategies. The study found that the student likes to read psychological cultural articles "down - up" and "up - down" reading method is used in combination she has ability to grasp the key words to understand the article. But in the process of reading proprietary words more complex lexical syntactic structure and the lack of corresponding cultural background will influence her reading comprehension. For the new words we summarized the formation regularity of new words an " __ X" or " X __" word template can produce a large number of new words. The combination of reading and speaking Combination of reading and writing is a good way to improve Chinese reading proficiency. We hope that based on the investigation of each individual student we can still find some potential implicit general methods rule.
